ACCOMPANYING STATEMENT

Main Street Telephone Company's ("Main Street") operating procedures ensure that Main Street is in compliance with the requirements set forth in the Commission's CPNI rules as set forth in 47 C.F.R. Part 64, Subpart U (the "CPNI Rules") as follows:

- Main Street's operating procedures prohibit the use, disclosure or release of CPNI, except as permitted or required under 47 U.S.C. § 222(d) and Rule 64.2005. Main Street does not use, disclose or permit access to CPNI for any purpose (including marketing communications-related services) and does not disclose or grant access to CPNI to any party (including to agents or affiliates that provide communications-related services), except as permitted under 47 U.S.C. § 222(d) and Rule 64.2005.
- Main Street's operating procedures prohibit the use of CPNI in sales or marketing campaigns. Main Street does not use, disclose or grant access to CPNI for any purpose, to any party or in any manner that would require a customer's "opt in" or "opt out" approval under the Commission's CPNI Rules. Main Street does not currently solicit "opt in" or "opt out" customer approval for the use or disclosure of CPNI.
- Main Street takes reasonable measures to discover and protect against attempts to gain unauthorized access to CPNI. Main Street's operating procedures include safeguards designed to identify and protect against unauthorized use, disclosure or access to CPNI. Main Street authenticates a customer prior to disclosing CPNI based on customer-initiated telephone contact or an in-store visit.
- Main Street maintains a record of all instances where CPNI was disclosed or provided to third parties and where third parties were permitted access to CPNI. Records of all instances where CPNI was disclosed or provided to third parties, or where third parties were permitted access to CPNI, are maintained for a minimum of one year.
- Main Street does not release call detail CPNI over the telephone, based on customer-initiated telephone contact, unless the customer first provides a password that is not prompted by Main Street asking for readily available biographical information or account information or unless the customer is able to provide the relevant call detail information without Main Street assistance. If a customer does not provide a password and is not able to provide the relevant call detail information without Main Street assistance, Main Street only discloses call detail CPNI by sending it to an address of record or by calling the customer at the telephone number of record.
- Main Street provides customers with access to CPNI at Main Street's retail locations only if the customer presents a valid photo ID and the valid photo ID matches an authorized name on the customer account. If a customer is not able to provide a valid photo ID, he or she may instead provide the account password in the same manner required for customer-initiated telephone contact. If a customer is not able to provide a valid photo ID or account password in connection with an in person inquiry, Main Street only discloses call detail CPNI by sending it to an address of record or by calling the customer at the telephone number of record.

- Main Street has established a system of passwords and password protection. For a new customer establishing service, Main Street requests that the customer establish a password at the time of service initiation. For existing customers to establish a password, Main Street must first authenticate the customer without the use of readily available biographical information or account information, for example by calling the customer at the telephone Number of record or by using a personal identification number (PIN) or similar method to authenticate a customer.
- If a customer password is forgotten or lost, Main Street uses a backup customer authentication method that is not based on readily available biographical information or account information.
- If a customer does not want to establish a password or if a password is lost or forgotten without subsequent authentication of the customer, the customer may only access call detail information based on a customer-initiated telephone call by asking Main Street to send the call detail information to an address of record or by Main Street calling the customer at the telephone number of record. If a customer does not want to establish a password or if a password is lost or forgotten without subsequent authentication of the customer, the customer may only access call detail information based on personal inquiry at a retail location by providing a valid photo ID that matches an authorized name on the customer account or by asking Main Street to send the call detail information to an address of record or by Main Street calling the customer at the telephone number of record.
- Main Street has procedures and policies in place to notify a customer immediately when a password, customer response to a back-up means of authentication, address of record or other critical account information is created or changed.
- Main Street does not currently provide online account access to customers.
- All Main Street employees with access to or a need to use CPNI have been trained regarding Main Street's operating procedures and as to when they are and are not authorized to use, disclose or permit access to CPNI. Main Street's employees have been trained regarding the types of information that constitute CPNI and Main Street's safeguards (such as employee restrictions, password protection, supervisory review, etc.) applicable to Main Street's handling of CPNI. Main Street's employee manual includes a disciplinary policy requiring compliance with Main Street's operating procedures and sets forth penalties for noncompliance, up to and including termination of employment.
- Main Street has appointed a compliance officer and established a supervisory review process regarding Main Street's compliance with the Commission's CPNI Rules. Main Street's operating policies require that employees confer with the compliance officer if they are unsure about any circumstances or situations involving the potential use, disclosure or release of CPNI. Main Street's operating policies require that the compliance officer confer with Main Street's legal counsel if he or she is unsure about any circumstances or situations involving the potential use, disclosure or release of CPNI.

- Main Street's compliance officer has personal knowledge of Main Street's operating procedures and is authorized, as an agent of Main Street, to sign and file an annual CPNI compliance certification with the Commission.
- All Main Street employees and the compliance officer are trained to identify and protect against activity that is indicative of pretexting. All Main Street employees and the compliance officer are required to report any breach or potential breach of CPNI safeguards and/or any customer complaints regarding CPNI. In the event of a CPNI breach, Main Street's operating procedures require compliance with the Commission's CPNI Rules regarding notice to law enforcement and customers. Main Street must maintain records of any discovered breaches and notifications to the Secret Service and the FBI regarding those breaches, as well as the Secret Service and the FBI responses to such notifications, for a period of at least two years.
